Sculptural and Functional Pitcher

Drawing inspiration from the classic, shiny drainpipes of Copenhagen architecture, the Pipe Pitcher interprets the classic tableware object in a straightforward, cylindrical shape. Pipe consists of a cylinder which slightly narrows at the neck, providing an elegant, functional spout, while a practical handle makes the pitcher easy to hold when pouring.

Designer Simon Legald was inspired by the way drainpipes are designed to lead water in the most efficient way. Since the fundamental function of a pitcher is to lead water, the design uses the same principles of drainpipes, narrowing at the sprout to create an ideal flow for whichever beverage it contains.

The stainless steel pitcher features a high-polish surface treatment, making it an eye-catching element in any table setting. Pipe Pitcher can contain 1,2 liters of any desirable beverage.
